

Condominiums For Sale At 15 William Reflect The Evolution Of Manhattan's Financial District

Douglas Elliman Development Marketing announced that a number of contemporary studio, one-, two- and three-bedroom condominium residences are being offered for sale with immediate occupancy at one of Manhattan's most distinctive buildings, 15 William. A reflection of the dynamic changes the Financial District has seen in recent years, the modern, sophisticated condominium residence includes a variety of layouts coupled with an impeccable amenity package to appeal to an array of buyers.

The selective redesign, spearheaded by SPAN Architecture, includes amenities that rival those of New York's finest residential buildings and luxury hotels. Modern furniture and bolder design elements enhance the updated rooftop lounge. The space, which includes a catering kitchen and a wraparound outdoor terrace that overlooks Lower Manhattan, was softened through textures, lighting and new furnishings.

"We are thrilled to launch sales at 15 William at such an exciting time for the neighborhood," said Heather McDonough, Associate Real Estate Broker at Douglas Elliman Development Marketing, who is handling the sales and marketing for 15 William. "The arrival of world-class retailers, restaurants and cultural institutions combined with the influx of major global companies, new schools and parks have established a new vitality in the Financial District, and we are pleased that 15 William reflects the renaissance of the area."
